To facilitate candor, and to protect counsels' work product immunity, the letter shall not be served upon opposing counsel and shall not be filed. The undersigned will maintain the confidentiality of all such correspondence and the information contained therein.

5. At least fourteen (14) days prior to the conference, counsel shall engage in meaningful settlement discussions which, at a minimum, shall include a reasonable demand by the plaintiff(s) and a reasonable offer by the defendant(s). Failure to make such a demand/offer will result in cancellation of the conference by the Court. During or prior to these discussions, counsel for Plaintiff(s) shall provide counsel for Defendant(s) with a written breakdown of any demand for money damages. Likewise, counsel for Defendant(s) shall provide counsel for Plaintiff(s) with a written offer and brief statement of reasons for the offer. The settlement discussions between counsel should include an identification by each side of the witnesses who will be called at trial, a summary of their anticipated testimony, and a detailed description of any other evidence supporting the party's position with respect to both liability and damages. If a party's settlement position is based in whole or in part upon the opinion of a physician or other expert, such opinion, along with any written report by the physician or expert, shall be disclosed to opposing party. Counsel are encouraged to make a concerted effort to settle the case on their own prior to the formal settlement conference.

ENTERED this 28th day of January, 2019.
